Eight And Half Billion Budget Given Congress

President Roosevelt Lays Epochal Budget Before Congress Session

NO MENTION IS MADE OF BONUS

"Debts To The Government Must Be Paid" Roosevelt
Warns; No Inflation

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—President Roosevelt laid the most important budget in the history not only of the United States but probably of the world before the congress today.

This budget called for expenditures in the year ending June 30, 1936, of $8,520,413,609.

While $61,000,000 under the expenditures estimated for the current fiscal year the new budget was vastly more important since it reflected the studied judgment of the administration after two years experience with the worst depression the nation has ever known.

In 1936 the government contemplates spending more than four and a half billion over its income. However, as the president pointed out, the budget is "balanced" except for the money to be spent to prevent starvation of more than five million people. The difference between the receipts and expenditures is measured by recovery and relief expenditures.

There will be little if any tax increase during the next eighteen months—unless—the congress should decide to make appropriations that are not recommended by President Roosevelt.

No Mention Of Bonus
In the budget message there was no mention of the payment of the soldiers' bonus. But there was the obvious conclusion from Mr. Roosevelt's remarks in a discussion of the budget with newspaper men that if the bonus is to be paid congress must provide some method of furnishing the income necessary to pay for it.

Of greatest significance was a statement made on behalf of the president that the administration must "stand for" efforts to minimize.

PA NEW OBSERVES

New Castle now has two Golden Eagle Girl Scouts—Beatrice Connor of Raymond street, who received the award Saturday and Donna Jean Beall of Fairfield avenue, who received it a year ago. The Golden Eagle is the highest honor of the Girl Scout program. It represents not only practical requirements but abstract requirements of personal growth in character.

Several faithful followers of the bridge paths found Sunday afternoon ideal for a jaunt out of the Troop F stables.

Districts in which a local option vote was taken last fall, and the result was against sale of liquor, are now dry, insofar as sales of liquor for drinking purposes on the premises are concerned, the vote having been effective.

Pa News has often wondered if the RWD couldn't provide a wrecking squad that could travel over the district and raze remnants of old buildings standing around the countryside that are in a dilapidated condition and have not been used for years. There are a considerable number of these eyesores dotting the countryside.

(International News Service)
BUTLER, Pa., Jan. 7.—Thief of 21 army revolvers from the Butler National Guard barracks by thieves who forced their way into the Army's magazine yesterday, was announced by State Police here today.

Statewide police broadcasts were made, they added, in an effort to confiscate the weapons before they can be used by gangsters. Law enforcement agencies and gunsmiths throughout the state were notified to be on the watch for the weapons because recoil springs and plugs had been removed from the revolvers, making them useless as firearms.

No clues were available as to the thieves, the police announcement added.

Exonerate Man In Auto Death

Coroner's Jury Holds Justine Boglinski Blameless
For Fatal Collision

CORONER PROBES
DEATH OF BOONE

Justine Boglinski of the New Castle-Wampum road was exonerated of any blame for the collision between his car and that of Gilbert Boone of Ellwood City, on the New Castle-Wampum road, on the night of December 15, when Boone received fatal injuries, by a coroner's jury which had been summoned by Coroner Orville Potter to hear the testimony in the case. The inquest took place in Alderman W. J. Ewing's courtroom Saturday afternoon at two o'clock.

The jury was composed of James Cooper, W. H. Clapie, James A. Bell, Ralph Jordan, Charles E. Allen and Carl Staebler.

Tells Of Crash
Boglinski stated that he was on his way home on the night of December 15, around midnight, and he was just preparing to ascend the hill south of Willow Grove when the car driven by Boone came whirling around the curve. He stated that he was aware there was going to be a collision and had crowded his machine as far to the right of the road as possible. He could not get any further off the road because of the guard rail at this point. The road was very slippery and he was driving slowly because of this fact, he stated.

After the collision, he stated, he got out of the car. His machine was backed against the fence, while that of Boone was crosswise of the road, in front of his machine. He asked his wife if she were injured, and when she did not reply helped her from the machine. She was unable to stand up, he stated, and he carried her to the side of the road, where she would not be hurt if any other cars came along and crashed into the wreckage of the two machines.

He saw Mr. Powell, who was with Boone in the latter's car, and told him to go to the grocery store at Willow Grove and call an ambulance. Several cars then came along and they were flagged down and took Mr. and Mrs. Boglinski and Mr. Boone to the hospitals in New Castle.

Both cars were badly damaged about the left front side, Boglinski stated, and that his car was damaged to the extent that it could not be repaired.

Boglinski told practically the same story as that of his husband, but did not remember many of the circumstances, as she was not paying a great deal of attention to the driving.

Heard Crash
Glen Tindall of Willow Grove told of hearing the crash as he was putting his car in the garage, about 800 yards from the scene of the accident. Fearing it might be his brother, who would be returning (Continued On Page Two)

SAYS:
(Special To The News)
BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Jan. 7.—Well there is not much news. It was what might be called a watchful waiting Sunday.

Congress met last week, but they really didn't have time to do any damage, but today the taxpayers will start suffering.

The Hauptmann case is in the waiting stage.

Japan ought to come through with another ultimatum by Monday or Tuesday.

The president is to send another message to congress Monday. It's really not a message, it's a working schedule.

So that left us a day to meditation and worship.

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 7.—Exhausted and suffering from exposure, yet thrilled by their adventure, 38 passengers and 30 sailors of the Ward liner Havana, nosed into Mantilla coral reef off the Bahamas at 3:40 o'clock yesterday morning, arrived here aboard the South Pacific freighter El Oceano early today.

Eleven passengers and 13 members of the crew were due in Havana, Cuba, on the United Fruit steamer ten at 11 a. m. The body of Robert W. Rittenhouse, 50, retired merchant of Brooklyn, N. Y., who died of apoplexy, was reported abandoned in a lifeboat. He was the sole casualty.

"All's well" was the latest word radioed by Capt. A. W. Peterson, 49, who remained aboard the Havana with 82 members of the crew, but an earlier message said two holds were filling with water. Tugs were fighting a heavy sea to pull the Havana off the shoal.

No Panic On Boat.

Calm and order, contrasting with the panic aboard the ill-fated Moro Castle of the same line, prevailed on the Havana as the El Oceano, Peten and four other steamers deflected from their courses to her aid.

The passengers were given a warm breakfast before they were ordered (Continued On Page Two)

NEW BLOOMFIELD, Pa., Jan. 7.—Crazed by the attentions paid his estranged wife by another man, Cloyd Bittling, 30, killed them both with a shotgun and then surrendered to police after failing to force a 14-year-old boy to kill him.

That was the story of the tragedy reconstructed by authorities today as they held Bittling for the deaths of his wife, Leona, 38, and Lloyd L. Nailor, 35, Millerstown.

The slayings occurred at the farmhouse of Harry G. Bernheisel, 63, who employed Mrs. Bittling as housekeeper.

Bernheisel's son, William, terrified at witnessing the killings, refused to shoot Bittling despite the latter's threat to kill the boy.

NURSE OF LINDBERGH BABY NEAR BREAKDOWN AS SCENES ARE RECALLED

Garments Worn By Baby On Night Of Kidnaping Are Identified; Facts Relating To Discovery Baby Was Gone
Are Related; Defense Starts Cross
Examination Of Nurse Just Before Noon.

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

COURTROOM, FLEMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 7.—Bravely fighting back tears, Miss Betty Gow, the Lindbergh baby's nurse, on the witness stand today at the trial of Bruno Richard Hauptmann identified the woolen shirt and sleeping suit the child wore the night he was kidnaped.

She identified cloth from which the little shirt was cut. She took the pathetic exhibits in her hands and showed them to the jury.

She also identified some blue silk thread that was given to her by Mrs. Elsie Whately, the Lindbergh butler's wife, and used by Betty in sewing the baby's shirt.

She identified the thumb guard she had tied around the baby's wrist.

The jury of four women and eight men leaned forward in their seats, as did the crowded roomful of spectators, as Miss Gow—the last person to see the baby alive—told of the happenings in the Lindbergh home on the fatal night of March 1, 1932.

Miss Gow was near tears as she told of the last night she put her baby charge to bed.

Col. Lindbergh shifted uneasily in his chair.

Windows Closed
She was asked if shutters on the French windows were closed. She said they were closed securely.

"All the windows were closed and shutters fixed except the southeast one of the nursery," Miss Gow testified.

All Gow then told how she prepared the child for bed.

"It was 8 p. m. when I finished putting him to bed," she related. "I looked at my watch. It was my habit."

Miss Gow's eyes were brimming with tears at this juncture, but she fought them back.

Attorney General David T. Wilentz permitted her to leave the stand to point out on a chart the location of the baby's nursery. She regained her composure.

Outside the building there was a great commotion. Justice Thomas W. Trenchard ordered crowds outside the building to be quiet by the police.

Miss Gow said she went to the sitting room of the servants' quarters, after putting the baby to bed. Then she said:

"Mrs. Whately (the butler's wife) and I had supper together. Mr. Whately served us in the servants' quarters."

"It was about half past eight. After dinner I received a telephone call from a friend of mine."

Talks To Johnson
"Who was that friend?" asked Wilentz.

"Mr. Henry Johnson."

Miss Gow said that after talking on the phone to Johnson she re-joined the Whatelys in the servants' living room.

"After a few minutes we went up to Mrs. Whately's room," she said. "We left the dog downstairs. It was shortly after 9 p. m."

She said she went upstairs to look at some dresses Mrs. Whately had bought. She said she stayed in Mrs. Whately's room until almost 10 o'clock.

"Then where did you go?" Wilentz asked.

"I started for the nursery," the nurse replied. "I proceeded to a bathroom and from there to the nursery."

"And when you got in there what did you find?"

"Everything just as I left it—I thought," she replied.

"I didn't put the light on. I walked to the window to put it up and turned on an electric light."

"I then walked to the crib. I put my hands on the rail. Waiting for the room to heat."

"Then I noticed I couldn't hear the baby breathe!"

Baby Gone
"I reached down! He wasn't there."

Miss Gow's voice was low and intense as she told of the discovery that the baby was gone.

"I then ran out to find Mrs. Lindbergh," she continued. "I met Mrs. Lindbergh and asked her if she had the baby. She said, 'No.' She turned quietly and ran downstairs."

"I saw the colonel and asked him. He said, 'No,' and ran past me up the stairs."

Miss Gow told how, when Colonel Lindbergh saw the crib, he cried: "Anne! They've stolen our baby!"

The nurse broke down at this point, sobbing convulsively. She was unable to resume for several moments.

"What did you see in the nursery when you returned, that you didn't

NEW ATTITUDE IN HAUPTMANN TRIAL

State Counsel In New Tactics

Innuendoes And Insinuations By Defense Counsel Will Be Combated

ATTORNEY GENERAL TO HALT 'SMEARING'

By LEIGH MATTESON
International News Service Science Writer.

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 7.—Attorney General Wilentz's abruptly different attitude toward the "smearing" tactics of Edward J. Reilly, chief counsel for Bruno Richard Hauptmann, today marked the beginning of a new phase in the trial of the "trial of the century".

From now on Wilentz will object right and left to all insinuations, innuendoes and innuendoes contained in the blunt or slyly phrased questions the Brooklyn criminal lawyer puts to the rest of the prosecution's witnesses.

Wilentz has vowed that no more questions like those hurled at Mrs. Elsie Whately in the closing session Friday will get into the Hauptmann trial records.

Reilly loudly shouted a number of questions at Mrs. Whately—questions that would imply he had evidence that her dead husband, Ollie Whately, the butler in the Lindbergh home at the time of the kidnapping, had known Dr. Condon prior to disappearance of the Lindbergh baby. Yet he presented no shred of evidence that either of the two had ever known of the other's existence.

Plan Agreed Upon.

The attorney general also permitted similar cross-examination of Col. Lindbergh. Wilentz did not object to more than half a dozen questions Reilly asked the world celebrated aviator—father of the murdered infant—during the more than three hours he was subjected to severe cross examination.

Reilly was permitted to indulge in this sort of innuendo and direct accusation in conformity with a trial plan Wilentz and Colonel Lindbergh had agreed upon.

Reilly therefore was offered nearly complete legal leeway throughout his cross-examination of the former

"lone eagle", who more than matched wits with the portly defender of the man accused of murdering his first-born.

Wilentz decided to permit the savage verbal onslaughts on Mrs. Whately in the hope that Reilly would convince the jury, not of Ollie Whately's complicity in the atrocious crime, but of the chief defense counsel's willingness to give credence to the most incredible sort of misinformation and cock-and-bull theories.

The prosecution's tolerance of these tactics disappeared today because Wilentz is convinced that the jury has made up its mind about Reilly's capacity for belief in flimsy notions—and because Wilentz is determined to deflate the defense counsel's professed faith in these notions.

into lifeboats, two hours after the first SOS cracked over the gulf stream. The Havana was in no immediate danger, Capt. Peterson radioed, but he was taking no chances on a repetition of the Morro Castle holocaust.

Six lifeboats bobbed on the rolling swell for four to six hours, while sharks curved through the dark water. One boat was swamped, soaking and terrifying its 19 passengers, one of whom was in the water for four hours.

At least one woman, a stewardess, was still on the Havana this morning.

The liner rested snugly in about eight feet of water, apparently held in vice between two reefs. Three coast guard cutters were trying to help the tugs approach her.

The sea had abated this morning, but the ship was taking a heavy pounding, and was in danger of breaking up.

EIGHT AND HALF BILLION BUDGET GIVEN CONGRESS

orties—including veterans—to bring about the "forgiveness of debts". Debts to the government, whether owned by home owners, states or municipalities, must be paid, according to the tenor of the budget message and the president's informal remarks.

Mr. Roosevelt plans to direct his "work relief" program personally. He asked nearly four billion dollars for this purpose. Possibly a billion dollars of this fund will be loaned to states and municipalities so they may conduct "work" activities that will support their needy. Further than that Mr. Roosevelt was not ready to divulge his program of "work relief".

The intimation, however, was that those capable physically and mentally of working who do not desire to work will desist from labor at the risk of not eating.

Funds Are Provided

In the "transition period," however, funds will be provided in the amount of about $900,000,000 for direct relief if congress accepts the recommendations of the president. Certain funds available from the RFC and other agencies, he said, should be transferred to direct relief accounts to be disbursed during the next six months before the government's "work relief" program has taken form.

Time will be required to set the new program in operation. This vast scheme designed to give employment to 3,000,000 persons directly and to 3,000,000 indirectly probably will not be in full swing until autumn. The president anticipates that the plan will set into motion such machinery that will stimulate private employment and thus create a great market for manufactured commodities.

Complete recovery is predicted, it was admitted frankly, on the creation of a market for the products of the "heavy industries" such as steel, building trades and others. Their recovery will be slower than the producers of the so-called consumer products, although even at present, in the opinion of the president, there is developing some market for the output of the heavy industries.

Inflation is "Out"
Inflation, according to the commonly accepted interpretation of the word, is "out" so far as the next eighteen months are concerned, according to Mr. Roosevelt.

The two billion dollar stabilization fund is the president's "kitty," and nobody, it was stated, "disturbs a kitty". The stabilization fund was created from the increment resulting from the revaluation of the dollar. Use of the profits derived from revaluation would be a certain indication of monetary inflation—in other words—"starting the printing presses".

In order to bring the budget into balance with the exception of relief expenditures President Roosevelt recommended the retention of all present taxes. Twenty four items of tax expire or are reduced within the next six months. They include such lucrative revenue producers as the gasoline, lubricating oil, electrical energy, message, automobile and admissions taxes, all of which at the present rates were estimated for 1936 to produce an income to the government of $377,700,000.

The president asked congress to continue most of the emergency agencies which expire within the next year. These were understood to include the RFC, Home Owners Loan corporation, Federal Housing Administration, AAA and others. In administration the federal emergency relief administration will be abolished. It was believed a board would be formed by the president to take over the duties of the agencies that will be abolished.

Business Better

After a brief review of the 1934 fiscal year the president went into detail as to the general economic situation. He pointed out that business was substantially more active in 1934 than in the two preceding fiscal years. While unemployment was still large it had dropped by two million by June, 1934, as compared with the same date a year earlier. Higher wages were prevalent while the income of corporations was greater.

It was pointed out that from February 1, 1932, to November 30, 1934, provision for recovery and relief through appropriations and authorizations reached a total of $14,412,400,000, of which $6,247,500,000 remained unexpended November 30 last.

Expenditures for the 1936 fiscal year included $180,000,000 additional for national defense. President Roosevelt explained that "this increase is due to the current policy of the congress and the executive to make up for the delay by the United States in meeting the provisions of the naval treaties of 1922 and 1930 and to provide replacement and improved equipment for the army."

Emergency expenditures for 1936 were given as $4,582,011,440 as compared with $5,259,002,652. It was explained at the White House that this was mainly due to the fact that a number of heretofore expenditures carried as emergency had been transferred to the regular budget. Total expenditures for the 1935 and 1936 fiscal years virtually were the same.

The budget estimated the deficit for 1935 as $4,869,418,338 as compared with $4,528,508,970 in 1934 and an actual deficit of $3,989,496,035 in 1934.

Cars Collide On N. Jefferson St.

When the automobiles driven by Anthony Sunderi, 707 South Mill street, and Miss Margaret Fisher, 4 Ashland avenue, collided in North Jefferson near Grant street at 12:30 p. m. Sunday, the latter sustained lacerations of the forehead and wrist which were treated at the New Castle hospital. After treatment she was discharged.

According to Sunderi's report to the city police, he noticed a girl faint on the sidewalk and stopped his car to aid her. His machine, he told police, was struck by that of Miss Fisher.

The injured man had a fracture at the base of the skull, broken arm and laceration of the soft side of the head. He was summoned to the hospital on December 16, to treat the injured man, who died about 3:30 on the morning of December 17.

Frank Powell, who was with Boone at the time of the collision, stated they were en route to New Castle, where Boone intended to tell his wife of his luck in winning a turkey. They had been at the shelter at Ellwood City.

He noted that the road was very icy coming out from Wampum. They had been going about 30 to 35 miles an hour a few miles back, he had noticed by the speedometer, and were going at possibly the same speed when the collision occurred. He was unable to see through the windshield on his side of the car because of the snow and sleet which had frozen on it.

He stated that they had stopped at a Mary Ann's Inn in Wampum, looking for a man whom Boone wanted to see, when they both drank a bottle of beer. He stated that there had not been anyone else in the car with them at any time after leaving Ellwood City.

Rode With Boone
George Zeigler, who lives a half mile south of Wampum, stated that he had been brought to Wampum by Boone, who picked him up on the road, where he was waiting to secure a ride to his home in Wampum. He said that he had known Boone from the time they were boys together in school. He said that the road was wet and that he was alarmed at times by the speed at which Boone drove.

Patrolman Cunningham of the state highway patrol told of being notified of the accident about midnight, December 15, and of going to the scene, just at the foot of Patterson hill, beyond Willow Grove. The road was very slippery, he stated. He found the cars had been moved when he arrived on the scene of the collision, and the occupants had also been taken away.

He stated that he had talked to Powell in the Jameson Memorial hospital after the collision, and that Powell had told him that their car had gone off the road on the right-hand side, and that Boone had swung it back onto the road just before the collision occurred.

There was no marks of the collision on the road, nor any skid-marks.

Passes Away

The career of one of the most prominent and successful Italian-American residents of the city ended on Sunday morning at 10:55 o'clock, with the death of Michael R. Conti, aged 61, of 404 East Wallace avenue.

Mr. Conti passed away in the New Castle hospital where he had been bedridden for two weeks. Complications following a major operation caused his death, which comes as a shock to his host of friends. He had been ill for the past two years. Only recently Mr. Conti recuperated from an illness which confined him to his home for nearly two months. About a month ago Mr. Conti commenced to come plain again about a stomach ailment. He was removed to the New Castle hospital two weeks ago, where he underwent an operation.

The deceased arrived in New Castle at the age of 13, and lived here for 48 years. He attended the public schools here. He was employed for some time by the old New Castle Mill, and then became a member of the Amalgamated Association after which he was foreman at No. 3 and 4 furnaces of the Carnegie Steel company. In 1905 he joined the staff of the New Castle Savings and Trust company. In 1907, he became a private banker on South Mill street. Since then, Mr. Conti continued his duties until he took ill recently.

His life was one of compassion of years spent in administering to the poor and unfortunate of the city.

He was one of the founders of the Umberto Primo society, of which he was treasurer. Mr. Conti also did considerable work in helping to organize and establish the St. Vitus church. He was a member of the Sons and Daughters of America and the Italian Veterans.

He was born in Baia Latina, Italy, on March 19, 1873, the son of Lawrence Conti and Madeline DeSimone. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary E. Conti, who has been affiliated with the Lawrence county court for some years; two daughters, Mrs. Humbert M. Fenati and Mrs. Anthony Pascarella, New Castle residents; one son, Lawrence Conti, also of this city; two sisters, Mrs. Louisa Bullano and Mrs. B. C. Leonardo, of New Castle, and eight grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted on Wednesday morning at 9:30 o'clock, in the St. Vitus church. Interment will be made in the St. Vitus cemetery.

It is announced that the body will be in state in the King Humbert hall, Division street, from 10 o'clock Tuesday evening, until the time of the funeral Wednesday morning, 9:30 o'clock.

EXONERATE MAN IN AUTO CRASH

home from that direction, he went to the scene of the time he arrived there the injured had been placed in other cars and taken to New Castle.

Dr. W. C. Burchfield told of being called to treat Boone in the Jameson Memorial hospital. He found the injured man had a fracture at the base of the skull, broken arm and laceration of the soft side of the head. He was summoned to the hospital on December 16, to treat the injured man, who died about 3:30 on the morning of December 17.

Frank Powell, who was with Boone at the time of the collision, stated they were en route to New Castle, where Boone intended to tell his wife of his luck in winning a turkey. They had been at the shelter at Ellwood City.

He noted that the road was very icy coming out from Wampum. They had been going about 30 to 35 miles an hour a few miles back, he had noticed by the speedometer, and were going at possibly the same speed when the collision occurred. He was unable to see through the windshield on his side of the car because of the snow and sleet which had frozen on it.

He stated that they had stopped at a Mary Ann's Inn in Wampum, looking for a man whom Boone wanted to see, when they both drank a bottle of beer. He stated that there had not been anyone else in the car with them at any time after leaving Ellwood City.

Rode With Boone
George Zeigler, who lives a half mile south of Wampum, stated that he had been brought to Wampum by Boone, who picked him up on the road, where he was waiting to secure a ride to his home in Wampum. He said that he had known Boone from the time they were boys together in school. He said that the road was wet and that he was alarmed at times by the speed at which Boone drove.

Patrolman Cunningham of the state highway patrol told of being notified of the accident about midnight, December 15, and of going to the scene, just at the foot of Patterson hill, beyond Willow Grove. The road was very slippery, he stated. He found the cars had been moved when he arrived on the scene of the collision, and the occupants had also been taken away.

He stated that he had talked to Powell in the Jameson Memorial hospital after the collision, and that Powell had told him that their car had gone off the road on the right-hand side, and that Boone had swung it back onto the road just before the collision occurred.

There was no marks of the collision on the road, nor any skid-marks.

A BOOM IN ECLIPSES

ANY attempt to assemble the coming important events of 1935 should not omit the eclipses for the year which, besides being certain, are also quite remarkable this year. There are seven in all, five of the sun as a result of the intervening of the moon between it and the earth and two of the moon as the result of an opposite process. The number of solar eclipses is the greatest since 1805, and it is the second time there have been five of them since 1255. There won't be another such number until 2485, so we had better enjoy what we have this year.

There have been seven eclipses in several years between, but always in a four-three combination instead of the five-two, as of this year. In the year just ended there were two lunar and two solar eclipses, but none of them was visible in the United States. That is the rub with regard to 1935's big show: only two eclipses will be visible in the United States. They are a partial eclipse of the sun on February 3, when the sun will rise eclipsed for the Pacific coast region; and a total eclipse for the moon on June 16, visible all over the country.

The last total eclipse of the sun visible in the United States was August 31, 1932, when, along with a number of stocks listed on the exchange, the sun dropped out of sight. The sun will next be obscured again in 1945. It's hard to tell about the stocks.

POLITICS MIXES IN CRIME

Director Hoover, of the division of investigation of the United States department of justice, gave expression to a bright idea when speaking before the federal crime conference. He said that law enforcement officers should be appointed on the basis of merit, and not be "forced to seek office from some political wardheeler."

"In too many communities the requisites are an ability to vote for the right man and a pandering instinct necessary to hold a position which can be plucked away . . . at the displeasure of a political boss." The condition is exactly as described by Mr. Hoover. Unfortunately, it is not one that can be remedied easily under our present system of government.

TECHNICAL RESEARCH

Upon two activities more than any other the future of the industrial world depends—scientific research and the technical education of youth. Although both involve the outlay of large sums of money every year they have been continued on a large scale during the period of minimum production.

Seventy leading trade associations in the United States are engaged in some form of organized laboratory study and every large industrial organization has its research force.

Collective action by all members of a trade association is considered today the most effective way to undertake basic research that may improve the methods or products of an entire field of business. Industries supporting common or co-operative research laboratories include the textile, oil and chemical engineering industries.

Independently of this the federal government carries on extensive research work in the several fields for the benefit of all in those fields. Whether this is a proper function of government may be the subject of question but the fact remains that government scientists have made many useful contributions to industrial knowledge.

It is essential that research be prosecuted with undiminished zeal at this time, that industry overlook no opportunity to pull itself onto better ground.

INTERNATIONAL HIGHWAY

Americans know little about Mexico and her people because barriers of transportation have separated the two countries as completely as an ocean could. In fact more Americans visit Europe than visit the real Mexico beyond the border towns. In consequence of this the two peoples have never understood each other or sympathized with each other's problems.

Destined to alter this is the new Pan American highway which is to be completed as far south as Mexico City by June and is to be continued until it connects every capital in the three Americas.

Many American tourists will be "seeing" Mexico next summer. The desire has always been there but the facilities have been lacking. Good roads will bring the motorists by the hundreds of thousands and Mexico will see a new and profitable industry spring up almost overnight.

The international road will traverse the most varied scenery imaginable. Starting from the Rio Grande, very little above the sea level, it will ascend the great central plateau of Mexico 8,000 feet above sea level. South American plans for the highway contemplate even greater heights.

While cars from the United States will lead in numbers on the Pan American highway, it will, by no means, be a one-way artery of travel. It will bring more Latin Americans to the United States and open new markets for American automobiles below the Rio Grande.

The great leader is one who never permits his followers to discover that he is as dumb as they are.

The battle of the bonus will be a chief debate before congress. You can't keep a good fight down, or a bad one, either.

New York police have picked up a gentleman accused of leading a double life. In view of the expense involved, this must be interpreted as a sign of recovery.

An effete Easterner was taken into custody by the police force of Moberge, South Dakota, for appearing in cowboy costume. Has the West come to this?

A "double" of Mrs. Roosevelt has been discovered. We shudder to think that the First Lady now may be able to go twice as many places as in her past, or single, existence.

SPEECH BY A WIFE
"MY DEAR, I've something to say to you. Sit down and listen and don't think I'm complaining or nagging, because I'm not."

"Come home tomorrow night and suggest that some night you and I simply must go out somewhere to dinner. . . . Don't listen to any of my objections. Just tell me that we're going and you don't want any arguments. . . . Tell me we'll leave the children at home and go out by ourselves on a spree."

"I'll say that we can't afford it, but you brush that remark aside. You say that of course we can't, but we are going to do it just the same."

"And I'll say all right, let's go. When? . . . You say, 'Tomorrow night.' . . . I'll object some more, but don't pay any attention to me."

"Don't even tell me where we're going to dinner. If you ask me I'll pick out some cheap place, I wouldn't ever decide on the restaurant where I really wanted to go. I'd start thinking of money again and compromise. . . . I don't know why it is, but nearly every time I know has the same feeling about spending money on food outside the home. They all act as if it were wasting the money and I'm just like all the rest in that respect. . . . So you pick the restaurant and I'll tag along, purring happily."

"And when we get to the restaurant—I don't care where it is as long as the food is good—we'll walk in grandly and take the best table in the place—I don't want any booth. I want to sit where I can see everybody in the room and stare to my heart's content—and YOU choose long enough for you to know what I like. If I start murmuring, objecting in a wily way, overrule me tenderly, positively, and act as if you weren't married to me and had been engaged only a week."

"I'll like it. I'll LOVE it! Do as I say."

"All I ask, my dear husband, is: Take me out to dinner. I'm sick of staying home. I'm sick of planning meals! I'm sick of eating my own food. I want to eat a dinner that I haven't touched, tasted or smelled all the time it was cooking. . . . I'll have a grand time and perhaps you will, too. But I'm telling you frankly, I'm not thinking of you. I'm thinking of ME."

WHAT CONSTITUTES THE "GOOD SPORT?"
You wish your wife were a better sport?

You think you'd have a better time if she would join you in playing for stakes, or if she would imbibe occasionally, as so many men's wives do. Sometimes these women are considerably under the influence of liquor.

You have seen them thus, and yet you wish your wife to do likewise. No, you are confident that your wife would not take too much.

But how do you know whether she would or not?

But how do you know that latent strain—what inherited desire for drink—she may have, and to what it might lead if she were to drink occasionally?

In her family there may be those who cannot control their desire for strong drink—who have made wrecks of themselves and their families. She might not allow liquor to get such a strong hold as this, but there is danger, and perhaps she knows it. She may know that she likes liquor.

It is possible that even a small quantity might affect her more than women in general.

She does not wish to give you occasion to feel ashamed of her.

Perhaps she is more of a good sport than you understand when she turns down a drink.

Pa's quit smoking! Consequently Tiptoe near him very gently.

Don't disturb him when he's reading. Such a dreadful life we're leading. Who were last year, oh, so happy!

Now he's quarrelsome and snappy. Do not ask him for the "funnies" Or he'll bite your heads off, homies!

Pa's quit smoking! Poor old duffer! Just for that we all must suffer. Be as careful as you're able. Don't spill water on the table. Don't give vent to childish laughter. You'll be sorry for it after!

Up the stairway don't go thumping! Or you'll set his nerves to jumping!

Pa's quit smoking! Do not whistle Or his few gray hairs will bristle. Whisper softly when you hear him. Answer quickly when you hear him. When you see his face grow tightened By his snarling don't be frightened. When with rage you think him choking. Just remember, Pa's quit smoking!

TODAY'S STORYETTE

Old Farmer Schooge wasn't stingy. He merely was economical in the management of his large farm and all his hired hands.

One morning while repairing the curb in his underground cistern, he very unexpectedly fell in, pulling the rope in with him as he went down. Having always been a good swimmer, he had no trouble in keeping afloat; but the water was cold and he couldn't climb out. His wife was helpless, alone and without a rope.

"John!" she yelled excitedly down to him. "I'll ring the dinner bell so the boys can come and pull you out."

"What time is it?" he yelled back. "About 11 o'clock."

"No dang it, let 'em work on 'til dinner time. I'll just swim around until they come."

Women certainly wouldn't aspire to wear pants, if they knew how the men feel about it.

She fascinates me like a fly. Struggling in a pot of glue.

Her disposition is as brilliant as a 10-cent shine. Yet her kisses are tender and goul-ashy.

I love my lady with a deep purple love.

The human tendency is to do something wrong and then try to get out of it with the least expense possible.

According to a ruling of the state liquor board, liquor must be sold to the customer out of the original bottle. That sounds like some have been putting hooch into the original bottles and selling it for legal stuff.

Our government is not a failure if we leap in the right direction. All we need is a little leavin' practice.

A GRAND TESTIMONIAL
Miss Goff had purchased a typewriter and one morning the agent called up and asked her how she liked it. She said it was splendid and that she wondered how she ever got along without it. The agent asked her for a testimonial and she sent him this:

Death doesn't scare a hen-pecked husband. It's his first chance to get away from home by himself.

The puzzling part is how Santa Claus got away without being arrested for impersonating a government agent.

Divorce news now has to include what the ex-husband and ex-wife are doing and expect to do in the future, what their children are doing, who the new husband or wife is, and so on.

Maybe the world has come to an end And we are all worms' repast. Living asleep in Eternity. Dreaming of decades past. Maybe the trees all walk around. Moving from place to place. While we are anchored fast to the ground; And snails have a rapid pace.

Maybe we really see with our teeth. And digest our food without hair. Perhaps all birds live in the sea. And fishes all fly in the air. Maybe the bars on prison doors Are frail, and cobwebs strong. Perhaps the canary actually brays. And the donkey sings a song!

Maybe the cat is on the fleas. Instead of the fleas on the cat. The people we think are awfully thin. Are probably awfully fat. The things we see as upside-down May really be right-side-up. Is the cup inside of the coffee? Or the coffee inside of the cup?

Kind friends, I pray do not condemn Me for the state I'm in. It was not caused, as you may think By taking too much gin. Ah, no! I've simply read a book Called, "Truth About the Brain." 'Twas written by a modern youth. Oh woe and woe again!

The World At A Glance

NO Building Trade Wage Cuts
Wall Street Is Cautious
Expensive Locomotives Building

Central Press
New York Bureau
235 East 45th street
By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—Building trades unions will not reduce their wages.

Michael J. McDonough, leader of building trades unions, asserts that wages in his field now are below 1926 levels.

McDonough is a determined man. He and his group of unions recently moved out of the American Federation of Labor building in Washington to quarters of their own. McDonough does not agree with the chief executives of the A. F. of L. But some of the building trades unions do.

McDonough insists that building union workers cannot be classed with "all-year-round" workers—that their wages actually are not high because building construction is not "a continuous operation."

Builders fear to go ahead, not only because of high prices but because they believe there even may be factional strikes between the two groups.

"CAUTION" IS THE WORD
Wall Street has decided to act cautiously until the trend of the new congress is established definitely.

Passage of a bonus would "soften" government bonds and the dollar, but would give an inflationary lift to some commodity stocks, it is believed. It would likewise increase automobile sales, already rising sharply in the farm country which is getting government money.

Passage of the bonus payment is pictured as a decided step toward actual monetary inflation.

LABOR BEGINS TO FEAR
Organized labor looks with fear upon two developments.

In Germany, there is beginning a virtual conscription of men, both for labor and military service, although the treaty of Versailles prohibits both.

An employment permit is to be granted only to a holder of a labor pass. But a labor pass may be obtained only by a year's service in the labor army, with the alternative of a year's service in the regular army.

Youths below 25 are forced to enter "voluntary" labor service.

Then—as to the second fear. In the United States the congressional committee that has been investigating so-called "un-American" activities probably will make recommendations that labor believes, if enacted, would cast labor organizers in the role of "enemies" to the state.

History Up-to-Date—Jan. 7, 1875
—Jean Pierre Blanchard flew across the English channel.

This was the first sustained flight over water, the first flight from nation to nation, the first flight with a "pay load."

At 1 p. m. Blanchard and his paying passenger, Dr. John Jeffries, American physician, ascended in a hydrogen gas balloon from the Dover cliffs and sailed in the direction of Calais.

In mid-channel they had to discharge their 30 pounds of sand ballast to maintain their level. As the balloon dipped again, they threw over a bundle of books, their anchor, their food. Finally, to keep up, they cast off clothing and fastened themselves to the cords suspended from the balloon ring.

Ready to cut away the car. This was unnecessary and they reached the coast safely, touching earth in the forest of Guines at 3 p. m.

For his achievement, Blanchard received $700 as fare from Jeffries, and was rewarded by the French king, ill-fated Louis XVI, with $2,500 and a pension of $250 for life.

Jan. 7, 1789. The first Presidential election was held in the U. S.

You're wrong if you believe that George Washington was elected unanimously. There were 11 other candidates, and he received less than half of the electoral votes.

Jan. 7, 1822.—Colonization of Liberia and Maryland began.

Those were the names given to twin republics established in Africa for freedom by Jehudi Ashmun, 28 year old white missionary from New York State, who hoped to solve the U. S. slavery problem bloodlessly by arranging for the U. S. colored population to be sent to these new countries.

Eventually, the two merged as Liberia. After 1863, there was virtually no immigration to it from the U. S.

Jan. 7, 1862. The last invasion of North America by European troops began.

A combined British, Spanish and French force landed at Vera Cruz to punish Mexicans for acts against foreigners. The U. S. was too busy with its War of the States to intervene.

British and Spanish withdrew when France's scheming Napoleon III proclaimed an empire before the Rio Grande, placed Prince Maximilian of Austria on the throne. He had to desert and leave him to his fate before a firing squad in 1867, when U. S. wasn't too busy to give attention to this flagrant violation of the Monroe Doctrine.

Jan. 7, 1931.—Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith was made Speaker of the House in the British Columbia provincial assembly.

She was the first woman speaker of a provincial assembly.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

A COUPLE OF "WOWS"
A lecturer, addressing a meeting on "The Duties of the Housewife," remarked that it was the duty of every woman to mother her husband. Wishing to see what impression this had made on his audience, he asked all those to stand up who were willing to mother their better halves. Only one woman stood up.

"Ah," he said, "I am glad to see there is at least one of you willing to mother her husband."

"Mother your husband?" cried the woman. "I thought you said 'mother your husband.'"

What Germany wanted more than Paris, Dunkirk and Calais. They would give her command of the English Channel, and provide bases for big guns and submarines with which to demoralize England and dominate the North Sea.

If her armies had not been so confident of taking Paris and smashing the French in September, they would not have still been trying to get into Dunkirk and Calais in January. For they could have taken them in September, when they chose instead to march past the Channel ports and go to Paris.

In this week, 20 years ago, the Anglo-French armies launched new efforts to break the German hold in the South and secured small gains in Alsace, the Argonne, Champagne and from Rome to Lille. Then began a series of more heavy engagements in the Soissons district.

Across the river north of Soissons, between villages is a plateau simply called "The Heights of Soissons."

Betty Gow Prepared For Witness Ordeal

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 7.—Miss Betty Gow, the Lindbergh baby's nursemaid at the time he was kidnapped, stood herself for the ordeal she must face when she takes the stand today at the trial of Bruno Richard Hauptmann.

Miss Gow, a slim, Scotch girl of 27, dark-haired, blue-eyed and attractive, realized that Edward J. Reilly, chief counsel for the defense, is planning to subject her to a vigorous cross examination after she finishes her direct testimony.

She is ready for him. Her attitude is that she has nothing to fear. She came 3,000 miles from her native Scotland to testify voluntarily. She takes the stand, her courage bolstered by the knowledge that Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, the slain baby's father, has the utmost confidence in her.

To Be Quizzed On Life

"Miss Gow will be questioned on her whole life," said Reilly, but he refused to specify what he expected to learn from the protracted examination.

On direct examination Miss Gow, the last person, except the kidnaper, to see the baby alive will describe the health and activity of the infant, the manner and time in which she tucked him into his crib on the fatal night of March 1, 1932 and the time she discovered the kidnapping and raised the alarm.

Reilly, when he takes Miss Gow over for cross examination, will inquire closely concerning the life of the servants in the Lindbergh home. By inference and innuendo the defense lawyer in his interrogation of previous witnesses has given the impression he believes the abduction of the baby was an "inside job."

Reilly Promises Revelation

Reilly has already injected a sensation into the trial by promising to reveal in court next Thursday "two women and at least two men" as the kidnappers of the baby. This startling declaration has aroused considerable conjecture as to the identity of these persons.

Some of those who are guessing believe Reilly will name the late Isidor Fisch, whom Hauptmann said left the Lindbergh ransom money in his safekeeping; the dead Oliver Whately, the Lindbergh butler and the dead Violet Sharpe, maid at the home of Mrs. Lindbergh's mother at Englewood, N. J. Of course this is all conjecture and Reilly may not name any of them. This leaves a fourth person for Reilly to name. There are many guesses as to the identity of "No. 4."

Attorney General David T. Wilentz scoffed at the suggestion that four persons will be named by Reilly. In Wilentz's opinion the kidnapping was a "one man job" and Hauptmann did the job.

Wilentz said the state places no credence in rumors or suggestions or innuendoes that any of the servants of the Lindbergh home are involved in the kidnapping.

Telephone Company Makes Good Report

Stockholders Of Princeton Company Elect Officers At Annual Meeting

If receipts of the Princeton Telephone Company are any criterion by which to judge the community around, Princeton has just passed through a prosperous year. Scott Kildoo, secretary and treasurer of the company, says that collections have been better during 1934 than during any year for the past ten years. Annual meeting of the company was held at Princeton Saturday, at which Mr. Kildoo presented his report. It showed that there are at present 152 subscribers to the system. Subscribers get their phones for $12 a year. Calls made into New Castle, where connections are made with the Bell system, cost 10 cents extra.

The company bought a building in which to house the central office last year. This has all been paid off and there is still money in the treasury.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: president, Samuel Weigle; vice president, Samuel Fox; secretary and treasurer, Scott Kildoo; construction boss, J. B. Lamb.

designated in military maps as Hill 132. Here the French on Jan. 8 made a brilliant attack, following a heavy bombardment. A strong position was secured commanding the road and railway to Laon, and the German entrenchments of concrete and iron taken.

The German reply was a bombardment of Soissons which wrecked the cathedral and other civil and ecclesiastical buildings, and a counterattack launched on the 12th by Von Kluck with reinforcements. After two days of the most intense fighting, the Germans won Hill 132 and claimed a great victory. Berlin newspapers hailed it as "a brilliant feat of arms for our troops under the very eye of the Supreme War Lord." The Kaiser decorated Generals Von Kluck, Von Luckow and Wichura on the battlefield.

But the major warfront was in the east. Hindenburg and Ludendorff had brought up new forces, including stiffened remnants of the shattered Austrian armies, and had re-organized the whole.

Grand Duke Nicholas abandoned temporarily his main objective and drew his Russian forces closer together. Wholesale withdrawals of troops from Krakow and other positions, excepting those in front of Warsaw, were made to secure better tactical positions.

The whole eastern theater of war, however, still was divided into three parts, the East Prussian, Polish and Carpathian areas. The Germans were having to use the utmost caution in all three, for they were combating superior numbers under weather conditions to which they were worse adapted than the enemy.

Thus the stage was set for a master stroke.

Two Hundred Girl Scouts At Reunion

Scouts Gather In First Christian Church Saturday For Camp Reunion

GOLDEN EAGLET IS FORMALLY AWARDED

Two hundred Girl Scouts of New Castle and a few from Sharon, New Wilmington and Ellwood City were given an opportunity on Saturday afternoon in the First Christian church to renew acquaintances with their bunk and campfire pals of last summer.

It was the occasion of the annual camp reunion and it really is an occasion for the Girl Scouts. Gathering at 2 o'clock the scouts, many of whom are attired in green regulation uniforms, spent a pleasant hour and a half together.

Present Eaglet.
An important feature of the afternoon was the formal presentation of scoutdom's highest award, the Golden Eaglet, to Miss Beatrice Connor, attractive, auburn haired daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Connor of 609 Raymond street.

Miss Elizabeth Reis, chairman of the camp committee, invited the Girl Scout members to the platform. The color guards advanced, with members of Minnehaha troop No. 6 and its captain, Mrs. W. H. Hanger, following.

The troop and its honored member, Miss Connor, were presented to Mrs. A. B. Street, chairman of the Camp of Awards committee. Mrs.

Street complimented the first class scout upon her splendid record of achievement and character and presented to her the coveted medal.

One of the color bearers, Donna Jean Beall, also a member of troop No. 6, is the only other Girl Scout ever to be presented the Golden Eaglet in New Castle.

The leader of troop 6, Mrs. Hanger, is also Girl Scout commissioner.

Playlet Given

A most interesting entertainment feature of the afternoon was a playlet revolving around three Girl Scouts and Queen Elizabeth, directed by Miss Elizabeth Reis.

BEATRICE CONNOR

ed by Miss Elizabeth Reis, who also played the part of Queen Elizabeth. Miss Reis was "Queen Elizabeth" for two summers at the Chicago world's fair in an English Village daily program.

Appearing in the cast were Olive Jean McKibben, Edwina Conner, Sara Jane Cleland, Marie Hanlon, Helen and Dorothy Stritzinger, DeEtta Cartwright, Eleanor Book, Hulda Book, Dorothy Campbell, Betty Velp. Betty England was stage manager.

Color bearers and guards were Ruth Connor, Donna Jean Beall, Leah Davis, Edna Roney and Peggy England. Singing during the afternoon was led by Mrs. Sidney Smith. Ice cream and cakes were served.

AROUND CITY HALL

Police chronology for 48 hours ending at 3:30 p. m., January 7, 11 arrests on charges as follows: Violation of parking law 2, Drunkenness 7, Suspicion 1 and Disorderly conduct 1.

Today is the beginning of a new fiscal year for the city of New Castle and incidentally the last year in the term of Mayor Charles Mayne and Councilmen Hoyland and Davies.

Only that portion of delinquent tax due the city will be assigned to the $100,000 amount which will be paid in certificates for resurfacing it was pointed out today by Solicitor Robert White. According to Mr. White, the director of finance, Albert Hoyland, makes an allocation of the tax due the sinking fund and the library when the delinquent tax is paid.

Safety Director David O. Davies believes that the city's survey of eating houses in which beer or liquor is served, will have been completed by Plumbing Inspector Harold Dunlap and Howard Phillips, acting sanitary policeman, this week. Ways and means of improving sanitary conditions are being pointed out by the investigators.

Card Of Thanks

I wish to thank the neighbors and friends for the kindness and sympathy shown during the sickness and death of my beloved wife; those who donated cars and sent flowers, and Rev. Galbraith, who conducted the funeral services, and Mrs. Martha McCreary, who rendered vocal selections.

The ball will be similar to those held in every city and town of the United States on the night of Jan-

This year the proceeds will be divided differently. Half of the proceeds go to the national committee and the other half will be kept in the districts from which the funds originate.

All committee men are asked to be present Tuesday evening. James A. Ruth is the vice chairman of the general committee and Postmaster Richard A. Steen is the secretary and treasurer.

Anti-Crime Drive Was Big Success

Many Important Gangsters
Rubbed Out By Federal Agents During
Year 1934

Dillinger, Floyd, Barrow,
Nelson Only Few Of Big
Gunmen To Lose
Lives

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Activities of the department of justice in 1934 were directed to the far flung war against the suppression of predatory crime. Attorney General Cummings said in his annual report to congress today.

The anti-crime drive was specifically outlined by J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Bureau of Investigation, and Sanford Bates, superintendent of prisons. The former had many new problems as a result of the federal kidnapping, extortion and bank robbery laws. Among the unique phases of administration of the federal prisons was the care of gangster molls—too tough and incorrigible to be confined at the women's prison at Alderson, West Va.

Special Arrangements
Special arrangements were made for such characters as Katherine Kelly, wife of the notorious "Ma"chine Gun" Kelly at the detention farm near Milan, Mich., the dangerous male prisoners including Al Capone. Kelly and others were sent to the co-called escape proof prison at Alcatraz Island, in San Francisco Bay. At the end of the 1934 fiscal year the island was just beginning to be populated.

Cummings only specific recommendation was the creation of two additional judgeships in the southern district of New York and two in the southern district of California. He pointed out cases in these districts must await upwards of thirty three months before they are brought to trial. Frequently the attorney general has pointed out that the low delay in the trial of criminal cases has raised the "army of the underworld," in its war against society.

Hoover said that since the passage of the federal kidnapping law, inspired by the abduction and killing of the Lindbergh child, for which Bruno Richard Hauptmann is now on trial, the department has performed investigation activity in twenty nine cases resulting in the conviction of sixty nine persons.

New De Sota Cars Now On Display

New Airflow And Airstream Lines To Be Seen At Morgan-Burrows Company

Two new lines of aerodynamic cars, a restyled Airflow and a new Airstream line, were announced today by the De Sota Motor Corporation. The 1935 De Sota cars are now on display at Morgan-Burrows Motor Co., 25 N. Jefferson street, local Plymouth and De Sota distributors.

The new Airflow has been completely restyled to strike a new note in aerodynamic design. The front end has been rounded and extended. Important engineering features have been added.

The Airstream line, incorporating many Airflow features, puts De Sota in the popular price class. De Sota's two new lines embrace the entire low-medium and medium price fields.

De Sota announced the new Airflow line in three body models, a Four-door Sedan, Town Sedan and Coupe. The new line is in the same price class as the first Airflow.

The Airstream line has six body models, the Business Coupe, Rumble-seat Coupe, Four-door Sedan, Four-door Touring Sedan, Two-door Sedan and Two-door Touring Sedan.

Prices for the Airstream cars range from $695 for the business coupe to $825 for the four-door touring sedan. All Airflow models are $1195. Prices quoted are f. o. b. factory.

Byron C. Fov, president of the De Sota Motor Corporation, in announcing the two new lines, pointed out that De Sota is introducing the new Airstream line to meet a widespread demand for another De Sota car in the popular price class. The Airstream De Sota inherits all of the engineering advantages of former De Sota cars and in addition, has many features that came with the Airflow design.

AWAIT HAUPTMANN'S TESTIMONY ON STAND

Sensation Will No Doubt Occur

Explanation Of Possession Of Ransom Money Likely To Be Surprise

ORIGINAL STORY MAY BE ALTERED

By KENNETH T. DOWNS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Jan. 7.—The biggest sensation of the drama-packed murder trial of Bruno Richard Hauptmann will occur when the taciturn defendant takes the witness stand.

His explanation of how he came into possession of more than $14,000 of the yellow-backed Lindbergh ransom bills the most damning evidence against him in the case—will provide the greatest surprise of the trial. A source close to the defense said today.

Thus far Hauptmann offered only one story—a story too fantastic even for the fantastic case—to account for his ownership of the money. He said that Isidor Fisch, a sickly Jewish furrier, gave him the money for safe-keeping last year before Fisch sailed for Germany, where he died.

Hauptmann said Fisch gave him the money in a shoebox, carefully wrapped in old newspapers. He said he was unaware the box contained until rain from a leaky roof over a closet in Hauptmann's Bronx home soaked into the package last fall, about two weeks before this arrest.

Different Proposition

It was one thing to relate this story in a perfunctory police examination. It will be an entirely different thing to tell it to a hard-headed New Jersey jury.

The astute Edward J. Reilly, chief of defense counsel, realizes this. Hauptmann does too, now. So the German will not repeat the Fisch story from the witness stand according to a source identified with the defense.

Under Reilly's questioning, Hauptmann will do one of two things, it is said. He either will give an entirely new explanation for his possession of the money, or he will tell such an amplified version of the Fisch story as to constitute almost a new alibi.

This time elaborate groundwork has been done for the switching of stories. Reilly, as previously revealed in an exclusive story by International News Service, is prepared to show Hauptmann was brutally beaten by New York police after his arrest. This may be used as an excuse for the German's original alibi.

Week Of Prayer To Be Observed

Series Of Meetings Is Planned This Week By Croton M. E. Congregation

Arrangements have been completed for a week of prayer at the Croton Avenue M. E. church, which will culminate in the quarterly conference on Friday evening, when Dr. C. G. Farr, district superintendent, will be present to conduct the meeting.

The service this evening will be in the home of C. J. Kenahan on Federal street. Tuesday evening the service will be in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Reiber on Dewey avenue. Wednesday evening the service will be at the church, and the place of meeting on Thursday evening will be announced later.

The reports of the various church societies will be given on Friday evening at the quarterly conference session.

SCOUT COUNCIL TO MEET JANUARY 28

Council President L. B. Round has set the date of the annual Boy Scout council meeting for Monday evening, January 28, and has named the first council vice president, Dr. G. S. Bennett, as a committee on place and program. Notice on this will be given as soon as Dr. Bennett has completed arrangements for the event.

The business regularly coming before an annual meeting will be transacted, some special program features will be introduced, and a speaker from Philadelphia will make the address of the evening. All scouts and their wives will be invited. It seems probable that the event will be a supper affair.

DINNER FOLLOWS DEMAS BAPTISMAL

Residence of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Demas, the former a local businessman, was the scene of many visitors yesterday following the baptism of their son Anthony at St. George's Greek church. Following the baptismal a sumptuous dinner was given by the host and hostess.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. George Broumas of Youngstown, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Marcovis of Youngstown, Mrs. Besse Horton of Chicago and Mrs. Mabel Wagliery of North Carolina. Mr. and Mrs. Peter Askounes were godfather and godmother.

Everyone Should Drink Hot Water in the Morning

Wash away all the stomach, liver and bowel poisons before breakfast

To feel your best day in and day out, to feel clean inside, no sour bile to coat your tongue and sicken your breath or dull your head; no constipation, bilious attacks, sick headache, colds, rheumatism or gassy, acid stomach, you must bathe on the inside like you bathe outside. This is vastly more important, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do, says a well-known physician.

To keep these poisons and toxins well flushed from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, drink before breakfast each day, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This will cleanse, purify and freshen the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach. Get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from your pharmacist. It is inexpensive and almost tasteless, except a sourish tang which is not unpleasant. Drink phosphated hot water every morning to rid your system of these vile poisons and toxins; also to prevent their formation.

To feel like young folks feel; like you felt before your blood, nerves and muscles became saturated with an accumulation of body poisons, begin this treatment and above all keep it up! As soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and purifying, so limestone phosphate and hot water before breakfast, act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.

Are You Over-Privileged?
Mystery Of King Alfonso.
Germany Accused.
Col. Lindbergh's Word.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

A word that interests everybody worth from ten to five hundred million dollars is the word "over-privileged," introduced by President Roosevelt into his talk to senators and representatives.

He made it clear that the under-privileged, that haven't enough, must be lifted up; and the over-privileged, that haven't enough, must be pushed down "where they belong." It was a modern form of the old "he hath put down the mighty."

The other Roosevelt, T. R., had plans to reduce "malefactors of great wealth." In the new Roosevelt regime, F. D.'s, the "malefactor" quality is not necessary. Great wealth means "over-privileged," and "over-privileged" means "this way out," into the darkness and gnashing of teeth.

ALFONSO, former king of Spain, with his daughter, the Infanta Beatriz, and her fiancé, Prince Torlonia, were to appear before the Pope, in a special audience yesterday. Papal guards and Vatican attendants were ready, when news came suddenly that "for very private reasons" the audience would not take place.

Rome and Madrid and European newspapers wonder, and will probably continue to wonder. When the Vatican has said all it cares to say, it says nothing more, and it says, only "for very private reasons."

Some will believe that Alfonso, clinging to hope of restoration, decided that a visit to the Vatican, in view of Spain's hostile attitude toward the Catholic church, would be looked upon in Madrid as unfriendly. It is probable, however, that the Pope himself cancelled the audience for reasons satisfactory to himself, but not reflecting presumably, on the former Spanish.

MOSCOW NEWSPAPERS accused "a great foreign power" of conspiring to cause the assassination of Sergei Kirov.

It is further stated that the murder was committed by the "dregs of fascism," in which is supposedly meant, Hitler's Germany. Russia will need proof of the statement that Germany financed the shooting of Kirov. Those that have observed Hitler hardly expect him to aim anywhere below the top. Here is one higher up than Kirov in Russia, the one that carries the flags of Marx and Lenin. He is Stalin, and while Stalin lives, Russia will be Stalin's Russia. When it comes to shooting, or "avenging," Stalin makes Hitler seem a mere novice.

THE HAUPTMANN CASE appears to be simplified as regards the outcome, by Col. Lindbergh's positive statement that he recognized Hauptmann's voice as that of the man to whom the ransom money was given in the graveyard and his further statement that he believed Hauptmann guilty of the kidnapping and the murder.

It will be very difficult for the cleverest of lawyers to remove from the minds of the jury all Lindbergh's neighbors, the impression that Col. Lindbergh's positive statement will make upon them.

THE SMALLEST baby, living in El Paso, Texas is not a quintuplet, nevertheless you will be glad to hear that she continues to live, eat and kick her little legs. Her mother, "hardly more than a child" has disappeared, but the baby, weighing two ounces less than one pound, only fourteen inches long, with hands so small that a five cent piece can cover them, is well cared for. It is expected to survive.

Imagine a little hand, as small as your thumb nail!

AT COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY, in the college of physicians and surgeons, sheep are "killed" by electricity, then revived. The electric charge is sent into the body with energy supplied by the sheep's own heart. The sheep "dies." Presently a switch is thrown, another current goes through the animal's body; the animal rises, alive. The experiment is repeated over and over with the same sheep. The animal feels no pain.

Learned scientists of Columbia University, and the Bell Telephone laboratories, are interested in reviving those killed accidentally by electric shock. They say it is "theoretically possible to electrocute a human being and revive him."

1935 IS GLIDING ALONG more or less smoothly; you perceive little change. Noble resolutions are scattered along time's highway thrown overboard, as not practical or not desirable. Some have found inside of their brains the spark that sets the will in action and keeps it going. They number perhaps, one in fifty. If everybody had that spark there would be no depression.

This year begins, as the last ended, in uncertainty and some anxiety. A birthday does not change a man, a new year does not change the times.

ishness? And it is all done because "learned financiers" say to the President of the United States: "Once start printing money instead of printing bonds that with interest included, cost DOUBLE, and you couldn't possibly stop."

"You would immediately begin wild inflation. Therefore continue printing bonds and make the people pay double for each dollar that they use."

THAT IS A POOR compliment to the President's strength of character and he must know it. It is like saying to him: "Don't drink a glass of beer today. If you did you would surely drink a gallon of gin tomorrow."

If he can be trusted to say to himself "I shall limit my public spending to fifty thousand millions in bonds," why can he not be trusted to say: "I shall limit my spending to fifty thousand millions in greenbacks, then stop." The latter statement would save the country fifty billion dollars of interest. Does anybody think the President lacks strength of will?

TO COMFORT THOSE appropriating and spending large sums of public money fighting the depression it can be said, quite reasonably, that there would be no danger in spending one hundred billions more, considering that the normal income of the United States in really good times, is close to one hundred billions. If a man spent one or even two years' income to settle all his troubles you'd think the price reasonable.

It would be a silly mistake of course, to issue the one hundred billions in bonds and pay out another hundred billions for interest, unnecessarily. That needs to be said and will be said quite often.

And now the second chapter—a new Airflow... brilliantly restyled!

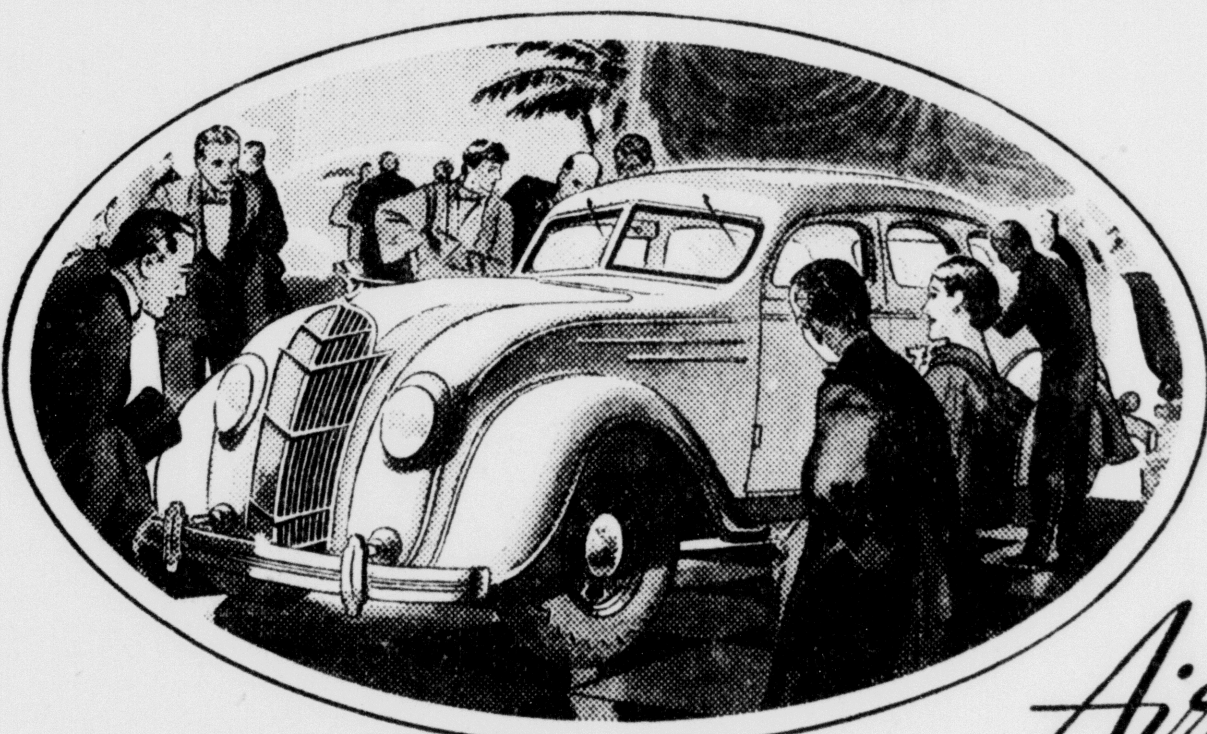

You'll have to see it yourself... to know how truly beautiful it is.

The front end has been smartly improved. Interiors are more sparkling... with handsome new fabrics.

Here is the car of 1935... that's two years ahead of the field.

Titans Defeat Glenville, 60-24

Wesley Bennett Scores 22 Points In Lopsided Battle Saturday

WILHELM-SWEENEY PILE UP POINTS

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan. 7
— Wesley Bennett put on another show for the Westminster basketball fans at the Westminster gym
Saturday night as the Titans handed the Glenville Teachers a 60 to 24 setback. Bennett had 22 of the points. Sweeney and Wilhelm each made 13 points for the Lawther men.

At no time in the game did the visiting teachers threaten. In the first five minutes of play Bennett ran up 10 points. At the end of the first quarter the score was 19 to 9
Westminster, and Bennett had 15 of the points.

Have Big Lead
The end of the first half found the Titans enjoying a lead of 35 to 14. Bennett had 22 of the points in the first half. The Teachers were willing enough to score, but you can't score unless you get the ball and the smaller Teachers had little opportunity to display their prowess.

Had Coach Lawther elected to keep the varsity team in the game all of the time the score would probably have been 75 or 80. At one stage of the game Westminster had but one regular on the court. The end of the third period it was 53 to 17.

The Westminster players tired
after a strenuous New York trip and a tough battle with Carnegie
Tech. were given a rest by Coach Lawther after securing a healthy lead. Humneke played only the first two periods.

Tonight the Titans will play the Slippery Rock Teachers at the Westminster floor.

ment with a record shattering score of 62 at Riverside, Calif., yesterday.
The card turned in is 10 under par.

U. S. L. T. A. has ranked Wilmer
L. Allison number 1 in the men's national singles with Sidney B.
Wood second. George M. Lott, Jr., and Lester Stoenen were ranked first in the doubles and Wilmer L. Allison and John Van Ryn, second. The committee ranked Helen Jacobs at the head of the women's national singles.

HUMBERT GAMES ARE POSTPONED

Due to the death of Treasurer
Michael Conti, all floor games scheduled for this week in the Humbert first City League have been postponed.

No league contests will be played until Friday, January 11. All Junior members of the organization will meet tonight at 7:00 o'clock in the King Humbert hall.

Deny Turning Pro

Announcement that Helen Jacobs, top: Fred Perry, center, and Eileen Bennett Whitnigstall, below, had turned professional and would play with Bill Tilden and others in William F. O'Brien's touring troupe, were denied by Miss Jacobs and Perry. Miss Jacobs said she was not planning to turn pro, and Perry,
generally regarded as world champ, declared he would remain an amateur "unless offered a million pounds."

Slippery Rock To Meet Titans

Local District Teams To Battle At New Wilmington Tonight

WAYNESEBURG TO APPEAR SATURDAY

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan. 7
— Slippery Rock State Teachers College comes to the Titan court
tonight determined to give Coach John Lawther's Westminster College five the hardest game of the season. Not only do the Teachers plan to catch the Titans off-guard but the fact that Coach Thompson has an outstanding team will, they hope, surprise the Westminster five.
The Titans are a bit weary now with a three-game trip in New York the Tech game, and the Glenville game all taking place within a period of 10 days. Tonight's contest will be the sixth for Westminster in 11 days.

Johnnie Krivosh of Sharon and Wes Bennett will probably start at forward against Slippery Rock Paul Backus, Youngstown. The Yellowjackets center and Swede Humneke and John Wilhelm will be at the guard posts. Ray Sweeney, Jack Willis, and other members of the Titan squad will be used in part of the game.

Westminster next plays Waynesburg on the home floor Saturday night. Waynesburg, like Geneva, has one of the best teams in the entire district. The Yellowjackets will be at Geneva, Duquesne, and Tech this season and the game will attract a large crowd.

Lineups for tonight's game:
Krivosh, F. Gibson
Bennett, F. Truman
Backus, C. Stonis
Humneke, C. Tatala
Wilhelm, G. Ortmann
Referee: Jerry Seigel. Umpire
Paul Avery. Games starts at 8:15.

ENTRACHTS LOSE TWO

The Entracht boys and girls basketball teams lost to the Saxons of Youngstown Saturday night in games played at the Ohio floor. The score of the boys game was 45 to 20, and the girls game was 27 to 21.

Ambridge High Here On Tuesday

New Castle High Basketball Team Has Two Hard
Games This Week

PLAY AT ELLWOOD CITY ON FRIDAY

New Castle High school basketball team will play two tough sectional rivals this week. Tuesday night, Ambridge High, newcomers to Section Three will appear at George Washington Junior High
gym. Friday night New Castle high will go to Ellwood City for a sectional battle.

The loss of the New Brighton game has not disheartened the red and black tossers, but has served to make them fight all the harder for a victory over Ambridge and to get a winning streak started.

May Change Lineup

Ambridge High lost to Beaver Falls last Friday night by the same score, 19 to 16, that New Castle
lost to New Brighton. Ambridge High has another cracker jack team this year, many of the boys who defeated New Castle last year at Beaver Falls in the W. P. I. A. L. eliminations will be in the Ambridge lineup here tomorrow night.

Coach Phil Bridenbaugh is not yet satisfied with the New Castle high team and may decide to try Dal Mumford at center, with Carik and Koszela working the forwards.
This chap Carik is too valuable a man to be sitting on the bench.
Mumford is fast developing into a dependable floorman.

New Castle hopes to chalk up a pair of victories this week starting with Ambridge Tuesday night and winding up with Ellwood City at Ellwood City Friday night.

Harvard Signs Dick Harlow As Football Coach

Former Penn State Star And Coach At Western Maryland Accepts Big
Three Job

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports
Editor.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—Two weeks ago, Bill Bircham, graduate manager at Harvard, harangued the Football Coaches association about ideals, the higher aim and other trivia of American football, the man's manner being both earnest and just a shade plaintive. Last night, Mr. Bingham announced that after due deliberation, he had hired Dick Harlow of Western Maryland as head football coach at Harvard for the season of 1935.

He is the first non-Harvard man to be permitted the privilege of coaching Harvard men in the history of the institution and, not to draw too many parallels, there also was some talk a few weeks ago of Harlow being offered the job of coaching the Boston Redskins, a group of zealous young men who go out to die for dear old home Star Dietz on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays. In other words, you don't de-emphasize a thing with Dick Harlow.

Wanted Good Coach.

So are Lou Little of Columbia and Clark Shaughnessy of Chicago. The only reason I mention them is that they also were considered for the Harvard job. Little, in fact, was the man Harvard really wanted; at least, Harvard told everybody this was so—except Little. He never was personally approached. I might add that he draws $15,000 a year at Columbia and his contract has two years to run.

But Harvard was definitely in the open for a "big business" coach and proved it by conferring, through the several-sided Mr. Bingham, with Shaughnessy in Chicago. Apparently, nothing came of it, perhaps because Shaughnessy is understood to be on contract to Chicago. Frank Murray of Marquette also was under consideration, though probably not too seriously. Mr. Murray played too long at Princeton and, while Ridley, a coach of a mind to throw Harvard tradition right out of the window on the car tracks to die in its own blood, it hardly was prepared to go as far as a Princeton man.

future rock favorite for the $100-

Twenty Grand at 8 to 1 and Azucar

Perelmans defeated the Ne-Ca-Ro quintet 27 to 22 in a City league game at Humbert hall Saturday night, with Kelly and Morrison the stars. The Johnson Bronze team nosed out the Kirppus 37 to 36 in a league battle, with Russ Kawa the outstanding star of the battle with 19 points.

The Humbert team defeated the Forrest A. C. 40 to 34, and the Humbert Reserve, headed the Grey-

District Floor Quintets Face Tough Battles

Duquesne Will Play At Geneva Tonight; Slippery Rock At Westminster

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 7.—Duquesne University's cagers tonight place their perfect floor record of six consecutive basketball victories at the door of Geneva College in one of the headline clashes of the week in Tri-State collegiate circles.

The Geneva giants have shown good form in early games this season, but whether they will be able to upset the Duquesne warriors is problematical. The game will be at Geneva.

Pittsburgh's round-robin tournament of collegians finds to games on the books this week with Pitt playing at Carnegie Tech tomorrow night and Duquesne visiting the Nathan gymnasium Friday night.

Attractive Schedule

Pitt faces a heavy week of play starting a swing eastward later in the week, meeting Bucknell Friday and Temple Saturday.

Other games this week include:
Tonight—Waynesburg at Fairmont and Slippery Rock at Westminster.
Tuesday—Temple at Bucknell.
Wednesday—Waynesburg at West Virginia U.; Fairmont at Glenville and Temple at Penn State.
Friday—Waynesburg at Geneva;
California at Fairmont; Bethany at
W. & J.; Slippery Rock at Thiel.
Saturday—Waynesburg at Westminster; Salem at West Virginia;
W. Va. Wesleyan at Glenville; Juniata at Penn State; Youngstown at St. Vincent and Indiana Teachers at California.

NEW CENTER

PAUL BACKUS

When Westminster faces Slippery Rock tonight on the home basketball court, Paul Backus, Youngstown, O., South high grad, will probably jump center for the Titans. Backus stands 6 feet 3 inches and proved on the New York trip that he can handle the tipoff post. With Backus at center, Wes Bennett is moved to a forward post. The other forward will probably be played by John Krivosh, former Sharon high star.

Polish Falcons Win Two Games

Defeat St. Adelbert Team 30
To 12 Saturday And Kirppus Team 47-14 Saturday

The Polish Falcons won two more basketball games over the week-end defeating the St. Adelberts of Parrell 30 to 12 Saturday night at the Falcon hall, and upsetting the Kirppus of the city league 47 to 14 Sunday at the Falcon hall. Kawa and Kendra were the big stars of both engagements.

THE SPORT PATROL

By JOHN J. MAHER, JR.

LISTEN TO THIS

Dixie Howell, University of Alabama's gridiron sensation, is planning on a baseball career after being graduated in June. The New York Yankees and the Detroit Tigers are bidding for his services. When Charley Barrett, St. Louis Cardinals' scout, bought his stock in the club in 1918, he paid $25 a share. When he sold it recently he received $100 per share. Sweet potatoes are the favorite food of Cardinals and High Quest, the Brookmeade stable stars. When the University of Illinois decided to allow schoolboys to attend the baseball games free of charge they weren't counting on the ability of the youngsters in fielding foul balls. The cost of balls for one game amounted to $25 so the policy was abolished. Mercersburg Academy has a track record that is very unusual. At least one of its track products has been on every United States Olympic team since 1896. Ted Meredith and Alan Woodring of 1920, Barney Berlinger of 1928 and Bill Carr of 1932 are a few of the more prominent stars.

Johnny Layton, billiard star, was formerly a professional wrestler and baseball player. Iowa City is said to be one of the most collegiate towns in the country. Danny Farrar, Youngstown amateur boxer, who won the Cleveland and Chicago Golden Gloves welterweight crowns and the National A. A. U. title last year, is now a student at Duke University. Gus Suhr took part in all the games of the Pittsburgh Pirates last season. His string of consecutive games, started in September, 1931, now totals 475. However, Gus, unlike Lou Gehrig, does not thrive on such steady work and would be a better ball player if given an occasional rest. Curley Lambeau, coach of the Green Bay Packers, named with George Gipp, Notre Dame's greatest football player, in his first year at the South Bend school. Pop Anson played with the Chicago Nationals for 22 years.

This said that Jack Torrence, Louisiana State's great athlete, did not enter West Point because he wants a crack at the 1936 Olympics in Berlin. Jack is rated first among the shotputters and was quite a football player. Eleanor Holm, Jarrett, backstroke swimming star, thinks women should eat as they please. Meat and potatoes form her training diet. Bobby Jones is quite a name in sports. Besides the world's greatest golfer, there is the young Detroit golf star and a well-known jockey, not to mention several baseball players and fighters with the name, Bobby Jones. Rabbit Maranville started out to be a plumber after he quit school. Laverne Fator, one of the leading jockeys for the past 15 years, has more than 1,000 victories to his credit. The original Strangler Lewis weighed only 190 pounds when he was the heavyweight wrestling champion.

The first Kentucky Derby race was run in 1875. According to Gene Sarazen, Sam Perry of Birmingham is the outstanding youngster in golf today. Bucknell university was founded in 1846 and at that time was known as the University of Lewisburg. A new method of downing a wrestling opponent was introduced when Frank Spears rubbed red pepper in Milo Steinborn's eyes. The largest field ever entered in a golf tournament was 1,151 for the U. S. open in 1931. Purdue's first football coach, A. Berg, was a deaf mute. Coach Francis Schmidt of Ohio State was a captain in the 347th infantry, A. E. F. Although bull fighting is rated as a hazardous sport, only about ten fatalities occur in Spain each year.

Gives The Market
Strong Tone

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—Large-scale buying in the steel and chemical shares brought a strong tone to the stock market today in advance of President Roosevelt's budget message to congress later in the day.

U. S. Steel sold at 40 for the first time since last summer and Bethlehem was up sharply. The new rise in the industry's operations compared with understanding that the president would recommend an increase in navy building appropriations for the coming year were the stimulating factors.

Commercial Solvents was heavily bought in the chemicals and rose about a point.

Rails came up and carrier shares showing a better tone than in some time.

Oil shares were firmer with the rest of the list. Aviation shares quieted down after an early flurry.

The motors generally held in a narrow range. Equipments were firm but price changes were small.

Utilities showed a tendency to sag. Tobaccos were steady and liquors moderately higher.

Trading was quite active with a number of sizeable blocks of various stocks appearing on the tape. Commodities were little changed. Bonds were strong.

Victory Of OfficeBAR MILL NOSED OUT
BY MECHANICALS

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 7.—Led by an inspirational performance by George Patterson, the Office Five rose to sensational heights Saturday night at the Shelby auditorium, when they surprised a large turnout of fans by defeating the strong Cold Draw team 33-28. The Mechanicals passed nosed out the Bar Mill cagers 19-16 in the second game of the evening.

The surprise victory of Office gave the Inspection team sole possession of first place in the Shelby inter-department basketball league, which they had previously shared with the Cold Draw. The Office was a determined team and never once relinquished their lead, which they acquired at the end of the first quarter when the score was 9-7. The Cold Draw gained a point at half-time, with the score reading 16-15 for the Office. In the ensuing period the Office again took command of the situation and held a 26-21 edge at the close. They held this advantage through the remainder of the game. The Office victory is largely due to the brilliant playing of Patterson. He thrilled the audience with some uncanny shooting. He caged six field goals and all of four fouls for a total of 16 points. Januzzi, Elder and Kimes also played important roles. Leyda and Perucci were outstanding for the losers.

Both teams played a strong defensive game in the second contest, with the lead changing hands several times. The Bar Mill led 2-1 at the end of the first quarter, the Mechanical 7-6 at the half, the Bar Mill 12-11 in the third quarter, and the Mechanicals 19-16 final. Arnold held the limelight for the winners with five field goals and a foul. Wally Harris, Smith and Bohlinger were the best for the Bar Mill.

Ellwood Men Are Held For RobberyQuintet Arrested Following Careless Remark In Poolroom

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 7.—Five Ellwood City men are in the Beaver county jail on charges of hold-up and robbery of an A. and P. store in Beaver Falls in mid-December, as a result of evidence obtained by local police.

Local and Beaver Falls officials assert they have confessions from the five: James Barton, 22; Alfred T. Worrel, 40; Connie Means, 22; George R. Funkhouser, 20, and John E. Kirkham, 22, admitting the crime.

Some $104 was taken from a store managed by John Amon, 27, as he was closing up. He was held up and cash till was rifled. The five men were later alleged to have come to this city and divided the money. Local police were notified to be on the lookout for the robbers by Beaver Falls authorities, who believed them to be coming in this direction.

After three weeks of careful work and investigation Lieutenant E. R. Hartman and Patrolman Chester Aiello, c. of the popular divisions of the local force dug up some clues against two of the alleged local robbers. Officer Young had learned that one of them was going to leave town Saturday night. He notified Lieutenant Hartman and the two officers obtained enough cause to call in Chief William Davidson of Beaver Falls. Local police state that they have recovered the gun with which the stick-up was committed. When the two youths, Barton and Funkhouser, were identified by the store manager, the remaining three were implicated.

A careless boast in a local pool room by Barton set the two local officers on the trail. The night police in Ellwood and Constable Elmer Friskhorn aided in the roundup and grilling of the five men.

ANSWER ALARMS

FOR SMALL FIRES

City firemen answered two alarms Saturday afternoon for trivial blazes.

At 2:40, a telephoned alarm came to Central station, stating that there was a bonfire which was threatening property in the neighborhood of Addis and Huron avenue, but on arriving in that vicinity, firemen were unable to find any blaze. They were told by a small boy that they had a bonfire but had put it out.

At 5:25, they were called to Ray street by an alarm from Box 38, but found it was a grass fire which had been put out before the firemen arrived on the scene.

NURSE OF LINDBERGH
BABY IS NEAR BREAK-DOWN; RECALL SCENES

Miss Alair of Hackensack, N. J. She said she "believed she did". He then asked her if she had worked for several families in Hackensack which he mentioned by name. She replied negatively.

Q—How many brothers have you?
A—Two—Alexander and James.

Q—Where are they now?
A—In Glasgow, Scotland. They have never been out of Scotland.

Reilly then interrogated the attractive brunette nurse concerning Henry ("Red") Johnson, an ex-sailor friend of hers.

Q—Did you ever go to a road house with him?
A—I went to a road house with him once on New Year's in 1932.

Q—Who else was with you?
A—One other couple.

Q—Did you go with him often?
A—Yes.

Q—Did Mr. Johnson have an apartment in Englewood?
A—Not that I know of.

Q—What was his position?
A—He worked on Mr. Thomas Lamont's yacht.

Q—Where is Red Johnson now?
A—Mr. Johnson is now in Norway.

Reilly asked Miss Gow if it was not a fact that she came here from Scotland recently to testify. She replied affirmatively.

Q—Who paid your expenses?
A—The state of New Jersey.

Q—How much did that amount to?
A—$650.

Q—How much are you being paid by the week here?
A—I am not being paid by the week.

Q—How was it decided what you would be paid for your services?
A—Attorney General Wilentz objected to the word "services" but was over-ruled.

Q—They wanted me to come to testify and I told them I could not afford the trip. So Col. Schwartzkopf wrote they would send $650.

Reilly allowed his voice to rise and fall during his interrogation of Miss Gow. Now and then he walked close to the stand. Frequently he turned toward the jury as he was answering a question.

"Now, Miss Gow, isn't it a fact that you haven't worked a day since you left this country?"

A—That is a fact.

Q—And isn't it a fact you never intend to work again?
A—No, (angrily) I do intend to work again. I have supported myself on my savings from my work in this country.

Q—Did you ever have any intentions of taking out citizenship papers?
A—Wilentz objected and was sustained.

Reilly asked Miss Gow the amount of her fare to this country.

"$250."

Talk About Trial

He wanted to know if—since the case adjourned last week—she had talked to anyone about the trial.

Q—Let me see if I can refresh your recollection. Didn't you talk to the state police Friday evening?

A—Yes, as I left the courthouse Miss Gow admitted she had listened to most of the previous testimony in this case.

Then Reilly surprised the courtroom by holding up a picture.

"Is that your picture?" he asked.

Suggests Reforestation Program Should Be Undertaken In County

New Castle, Pa., January 7, 1935.
Editor News:
New Castle, Pa.
Dear Sir:

In his message to Congress on January 4th, 1935, the President indicated some of the constructive work which may be done by the unemployed in return for the assistance given them by the government. Among other things he suggested "The reforestation of the great water sheds of the nation and intensified progress to prevent soil erosion and to reclaim blighted areas." To us this sounds commendable—but remote. I believe that the time has come when reforestation should be undertaken in this county, not for beauty, not merely for flood control and the prevention of erosion, but for profit.

Everyone is familiar with the fact that there is scarcely a good stand of timber remaining in Lawrence county, that the lumber which is used here must be brought from the most part from great distances and that the hauling adds materially to its cost. On the other hand everyone is familiar with the fact that there are large areas of farm lands in Lawrence county which are entirely unproductive and that even our wood lands are producing little in the way of actual new timber. The barren slopes which I knew as a boy are still barren and the scattered woodlands which I knew are still scattered woodlands, pleasant but not very profitable. Perhaps the experience of other persons is the same. In addition there are large areas in Lawrence county which have been ruined for agricultural purposes—the lands that have been worked over for limestone, the lands which have been ruined by stripping operations for coal are cases in point.

The planting of trees ought to be undertaken at this time when men desperately need work. It should be undertaken as a part of the public work mentioned by the President. Of course, the planting of trees by R. W. D. labor cannot be undertaken on private lands but there is now ample legislation by which the municipalities may acquire lands for forest purposes and develop them as such. The Act of April 13th, 1933, P. L. 35, provides that counties may establish county forests on seated or unseated lands which have been sold to the county commissioners for taxes and not redeemed. If there are lands against such lands there is a simple procedure by which the title may be cleared. In case the county acquires said lands for forest purposes the county shall become liable to pay to the township and school district in which said lands are located an annual fee of two cents per acre for road and school purposes and all other taxes are abated so long as the lands are held as county forests. The county is given authority to develop the lands as county forests, to sell any forest products found or produced thereon and to lease areas thereof or buildings thereon.

It is not my idea that the county should wrest their lands from the hands of people unable to protect them by paying the taxes but there are lands in the county which have been sold for taxes many times and the fair value of which is practically covered by accumulated taxes. In addition there are other lands which are virtually abandoned. If the owners of these lands do not seek to put them to some productive use, so as not to devote to forest purposes lands which are better adapted to farm purposes.

There is also ample legislation under which other municipal corporations may acquire and operate forest lands, although the acts do not specify these to be on lands taken for taxes. By the Act of 1927, P. L. 519, boroughs may acquire by purchase, gift or lease such lands and administer the same under the direction of the Commissioner of Forestry. These lands may be located within or without the borough limits. The approval of the Secretary of Forests and Waters must be secured for any such lands. The people must vote on the proposal before such forest lands can be sold. The same powers are given townships of the first class by the Act of 1917, P. L. 840, and townships of the second class are given substantially the same powers by the Act of 1933, P. L. 13. However, in the case of second class townships there is the further provision that, although the township supervisors may accept title to the lands donated to townships for forest purposes, before the township may appropriate any money to develop said lands the voters must vote on the proposal.

It is entirely feasible to secure seedling trees for this purpose. The Department of Forests and Waters will sell to either municipal corporations or private individuals forest seedling trees at $2.00 per thousand. They will sell transplants at $5.00 per thousand. They estimate to reforest one acre requires about 1500 trees and that two men can plant 500 trees in one day. The department states that early spring planting is best, beginning about April 1st. It is believed that approval of reforestation projects by the R. W. D. officials can easily be secured. I am advised by the Department of Forests and Waters that a great many counties and municipalities have gotten trees from the department for public projects. They advise me that the County of Allegheny ordered 70,000 trees recently in one day. It is obvious, however, that if anything is done in this matter it should be done at once if work is to be provided this spring on such projects.

In all this I have said nothing about the provisions of the law which assist private owners to develop forest lands.

Seedling trees can be obtained on the terms above stated. In addition by the Act of 1913, P. L. 405, forest lands of private individuals may be classed as auxiliary forest reserves and during the period of time they are so classified shall be rated in value for the purpose of taxation not in excess of $1.00 per acre, provided, however, that when in the opinion of the State Forestry Reservation commission the trees are suitable for market the owner must pay the difference in the amount of tax which has been paid under the special assessment and the amount which would have been paid if the lands had not been classified as auxiliary forest reserves.

Lawrence county needs to broaden its economic base. The coal industry in this county, once a flourishing one, is almost gone. The oil industry has completely disappeared. The steel industry has been affected by the shift in the center of the steel industry. There remains, however, the resources of the land but the land should be put to all the uses of which it is capable. Fifty years from now there should be large forest areas belonging to the people owned and managed, like much of the forest land of Europe, by the municipalities, and in addition the privately owned woodlands should be actually growing timber.

I am taking advantage of your paper to present my views because if anything is done in the way of R. W. D. projects of this character during the coming spring, steps to that end must be taken immediately.

Yours very truly,
W. WALTER BRAHAM.

BUST THAT COLD WIDE OPEN

Don't Merely Check It With Half-Way Measures!

Deal with a cold in earnest. Deal with it in seriousness. A cold is too fraught with danger to be taken lightly. Many a case of flu and pneumonia has started with nothing more than a "common cold".
Treat a cold for what it is—an internal infection. Therefore, internal treatment.
Treat a cold with a preparation made for colds and not a "cure-all". Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is your answer to a cold.
It is a cold tablet, made expressly for the treatment of colds and not for all kinds of ailments.
First, it opens the bowels, an important step in overcoming a cold.
Second, it checks the infection in the system, a vital step.

Ellwood City Hi At Beaver Falls

Blue and White Cagers Hope To Take Measure Of Tigers Tonight

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 8.—Coach "Gandy" Benedict will take a determined Ellwood City High team to Beaver Falls this evening, where they will clash with the Tigers in a Section 3 contest.

The locals have been working hard to be in top form for this game, and hope to chalk up their first league victory at the expense of Beaver Falls. They realize that this is a large order, considering that they will be playing in enemy territory. And furthermore the Tigers have shown their teeth by taking Ambridge last week.

A victory tonight would give the Ellwoodians hope and place them in the running again. The reserves of both schools will meet in a preliminary game at 7 o'clock.

Other section games tonight are Ambridge at New Castle, and Butler at New Brighton.

Accident Victim Is Laid To Rest

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 8.—Funeral rites for Julius Cheize, who was killed in a fall of slate in a coal mine last Friday, were held from his home in Belton, near here, Monday afternoon at 2:30, with sympathetic friends filling the house, while the beautiful floral tributes showed the respect in which he was held.

Services were conducted by the Rev. Charles Bell, with Samuel Burroughs singing three numbers. Interment was made in North Sewickley cemetery; pallbearers were Leon Lemery, Baptiste Lemery, E. Leymarie, L. Leymarie, T. Tillian, and Henry Gnoque.

Scout Committee Meets On Monday

Session In City Building Last Night

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 8.—Ellwood City district committee of the Lawrence County Council, Boy Scouts of America, held a well-attended and interesting meeting at the City building, District Chairman Judd C. Turner presiding. Plans outlined by the booster committee were brought up and handled and plans for attending the annual meeting were also mentioned. Votes of thanks for their work in scouting recently were tendered to Messrs. Charles Carbeau, Nelson Runyan and Judd Turner and letters of thanks were ordered written to Messrs. Charles Blank and C. A. Adams. Appointments for committee work for the district were ratified as follows:

Courts of honor, John Lindgren, with Charles Zeigler assisting; transportation, Nelson Runyan; finance, Charles Adams; camping and equipment, Charles Blank; publicity, Nelson Runyan; Seascouting, Robert Perkins; health and safety, Dr. Shields and Frank Potter; consulting and information, booster committee; Cubbing, Earle Yahn and John Hough; troop organization, Joseph Bower; leader training, W. Boyd Barrett (with troop committee chairman); neighborhood commissioners, Messrs. Buckheit and Wilkins.

A "headquarters troop" composed of local troop commissioned leaders, also patrol leaders and scribes chosen by the troop leaders, will soon start a series of training sessions using the "Part I. Elements of Scoutmastership" material and giving training to these men. District Commissioner Ralph Main is heading this up.

Wants Damages For Land Taken As Athletic Field

(Special To The News)
GROVE CITY, Jan. 7.—Filing an appeal from a $750 award of the board of viewers, as his loss when the local school board seized three quarters of an acre of his property for the school athletic field, James Jordan has entered suit against the Grove City school district to recover $5,000 damages. The School Board has until January 15th to file an answer, and unless a settlement is effected, the case will be tried in May.

Mr. Jordan alleges in his statement of claim that the board offered $500 for the land, which he held to be inadequate; that the land was a source of steady income to him through vegetables raised and marketed, and that the athletic field brings crowds, noise and disturbance that has reduced the value of his remaining property; and that the field has permanently interfered with the extension of roads and streets into and through his property, depressing its value. Also, the section has now lost its preference as a residential district. The case attracted wide attention when heard by the board of viewers, when Jordan's neighbors testified that he had been damaged by amounts ranging between $5,000 and $10,000. The viewers placed his damage at $750.

Returns From Tour Of Southern States

New Castle Party Back After Three Weeks Sojourn
In Florida

After three weeks spent touring Florida and the adjoining southern states, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Davy, of 733 County Line street, daughter Blanche and Mrs. Robert A. Barkley, of 709 County Line street have returned. They drank the waters of the Ponce de Leon spring, but Mr. Davy hasn't noticed much difference in his age yet.

The trip was primarily for Mrs. Davy's health and she has returned feeling much improved. During the stay in Miami, Mrs. Barclay met a school mate who had gone through each of the grades of Oak Street school with her when they were girls.

Mr. Davy met S. H. Rhoads, freight agent of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad while in the south. The meeting occurred on Flagler avenue, Miami, and a fishing trip was arranged immediately on Backley Bay. Mrs. Barclay proved to be the champ of the group getting five large fish, one of them the largest snapper caught thus far in the season.

On Christmas Day, Mr. Davy saw his favorite sport a football game. He witnessed the game between Scott High, of Braddock and Miami. When Scott High made its first touchdown Mr. Davy broke the quiet on the Miami side by tossing his hat into the air. He considers Scott one of the finest blocking high school teams he has ever seen and believes a game with New Castle would be a real attraction.

He also went swimming during the day.

After touring Florida for the first time Mr. Davy is enthusiastic over the climate but suggests that the favorite sport in the state seems to be skinning crocodiles in the summer and tourists in the winter.
